Natürlich und gesund genießen.

agaSAAT GmbH has once again been awarded the State Prize for Food. This is the latest in a series of special recognitions from the state of North Rhine-Westphalia for the company's high-quality products and responsible business practices.

The specialist for baking, sprouting, and spice seeds, based in the Lower Rhine region, once again impressed the jury with its consistently high product quality and its sustainable commitment throughout the entire value chain. The State Prize is awarded by the Ministry of Agriculture and Consumer Protection of North Rhine-Westphalia to companies that demonstrate a particular commitment to quality, responsibility, and sustainability.

Excellent quality with responsibility

For more than three decades, agaSAAT has consistently pursued the goal of combining the highest quality standards with environmentally conscious business practices. Strict standards apply right from the selection and origin of the seeds – from our own regional cultivation or via carefully selected direct imports. Modern and gentle processes are used in further processing, including CO_2 pressure disinfestation, which uses only natural carbon dioxide.

This latest award underscores the high priority that agaSAAT places on quality, sustainability, and innovation. With technical expertise, many years of experience, and a clear understanding of values, the family-owned company has established itself as a reliable partner for high-quality seeds—setting standards in the industry.
